A Passion for Personalized Care

Companion Caregivers

Age at Home Care was founded by Davis Allen, a certified nurse assistant who discovered his passion for helping seniors while helping to care for his own parents.

It was a formative experience for Davis to help his parents age comfortably in their home— one that ultimately led him to become the director of an adult day center where he gained experience in every area of senior care from independent living to hospice. He quickly recognized the irrefutable value of quality at-home care combined with heartfelt companionship to ensure a high quality of life for aging seniors.

With in-depth insight and hands-on experiences, Davis founded Age at Home Care in 2011 to help coordinate personalized companionship care for families in his community.

Today, Age at Home Care is a leading homecare registry in St. Louis.

Our Mission

We extend the enrichment of aging by enabling your loved one to continue living at home with independence, dignity, companionship and quality care.

It's not just about home care, but about feeling at home with your caregiver. In addition to ensuring that all of our caregivers are insured and certified, we also exhaustively screen each caregiver candidate ourselves to ensure that they align with our core values and the highest level of quality care.

Our Care

Companionship Is Care

All of us with Age at Home Care understand the urgency and complexity you and your loved ones may face when seeking at home care.

You can count on our team to quickly identify and apply quality-of-life solutions to help your situation, with the utmost care and consideration for your loved one(s).

We believe that the best care requires more than daily duties—it's a matter of meaningful connections, personal interactions and life-affirming experiences that can only be achieved by a trusted companion.

We are proud to offer comprehensive companionship-care services around the clock to enrich the experience of aging at home in whatever way we can.
